Donkey Baseball Thrills Large Beiseker Crowd

BEISEKER.—A large crowd attended the Donkey Baseball Thursday evening, July 6 at the local ball diamond. The Beiseker Lions Club Band opened the evening's fun with several selections. The Acme Elks played against the Beiseker Lions Club with Beiseker winning by a score of 3-1.

The fans were in an uproar from the start of the game to the finish. The players too seemed to enjoy themselves even if the donkeys were stubborn, and the riders had difficulty directing their charges to where they wanted them to go; probably the most difficult or at least the most aggravating position was the third base player where his donkey incessantly wanted to lie down, and one time four players had to lift the stubborn donkey up on his legs, so that the player could continue his part in the game.

In the potato race Beiseker beat Acme 13-10, and Acme won the Jack Ass Derby.

Players for Beiseker were: Simon Schwengler, ss.; Chas. Suelzle, 2; Tony Hagel, p.; Art Scheffelmier, c.; Wm. Ternes, 1; Allen Berreth, rf.; Wm. Rempel, 3; Ben Heuther, cf.; Francis Lemay, lf.

Players for Acme were: Rolph, p.; Greenway, cf.; Cote, 2b.; McKay, 3b.; Wilson, c.; Corry 1b.; Hunt, ss.; Green, lf.; Reddekopp, rf.

Might say that Chas. Suelzle really came prepared to take the bumps, with pillows, etc., but toward the close of the evening he had fared better than he had anticipated so relieved his make-up of one pillow.

Also there were other players who relieved the regular line-up, but we have not a list of them; nevertheless we enjoyed their brave attempts at riding the donkeys.

This game was sponsored by the Beiseker Lions club band, and the fine sum of $119 was cleared.

Work Proceeding On New Highway

BEISEKER.—The new highway is progressing very favorably. The bridge crews are out. The bridge east of Beiseker is finished, and the crew are working on the Rosebud bridge.

It is expected that in another week or two this highway will be completed and ready for traffic.

The local Board of Trade and the town council held a meeting Saturday, July 8 in regard to the highway connection with the town. The delegates to the department of public works were not satisfied with the outcome of their interview, because the road would be too narrow and light.

At Saturday night's meeting delegates were appointed to interview the local MLA, Mr. Hammel, and he may be able to intercede in their favor.

Barn Dance Is Well Attended

BEISEKER.—The barn dance held at Frank Selzler's new barn recently was for the further development of the Beiseker Lions Club band and realized the fine sum of $18. Much appreciation is due Mr. Selzler for his generosity in this matter.

We have every reason to be proud of our band, and the progress it has made, and the willingness of them at all times to help out in any community doings, large or small. Last year our band won second prize at the Calgary Stampede parade.

Condemned by the U.S. Coast Guard as a firetrap, the Norwegian steamship Svalbard lies at her New York pier, unable to clear port, with 507 college students en route to Europe for the summer. Down-hearted by the sudden turn of events, Joan Gladwin of Ottawa, left, and Joyce Mueller of Kansas City, Mo., sit on their baggage at the dock, wondering what their next move will be. U.S. government has offered another ship to the students, if they recover their $87,000 already paid for their trip on the Svalbard.

BEISEKER NEWS BRIEFS

BEISEKER.—Mr. and Mrs. Adam Velker and Mr. and Mrs. Lou Brosteaux left Saturday for Nelson, B.C., to take part in the Nelson Summer Curling Bonspiel which opened last Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Matt Steele and Mr. and Mrs. John Steele of Irricana, are also taking part and set out earlier for a little trip down the western coast first. When they meet the ladies will curl in their bonspiel and the men in theirs. In the next issue we may possibly have pictures of the champion Beiseker ladies' rink and of the men's.

We hear that Lou Brosteaux is sporting a new straw hat! We will have another one to burn!

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Simmonds have been holidaying down the western coast. However Linda Marie decided she would enjoy herself just as well by holidaying with her aunt in Calgary.

Mr. T. W. Pae, editor and publisher of Community Publications was a visitor in Beiseker during the past week. He was sorry not to have longer to get around to all the business places, but hopes to have more time when he comes this way again.

Mervin Goodman, Larry Rau, Roy Hixt, Mary, Emily and Alex Borgardt are attending Alberta Camp, 20 miles west of Didsbury from July 10 to 16. Everybody is welcome.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Zerr, Regina are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Anselm Schmaltz. Also visited Mr. and Mrs. Matt Schmaltz. They expect to go to Kelowna from here.

Norman Schmaltz had the misfortune at the Irricana sports last Tuesday to tear some ligaments in ankle and was sent to the Holy Cross hospital until a cast can be put on.

Mr. E. M. Hagel (Irish) was visiting friends in the Beiseker district. Mr. Hagel informs us that he is moving from Calgary to Conrad, Montana, and will be working for the Conrad Implement Co. While here he happened to see the Beiseker Times, and liked it so well that he took out a year's subscription.

Mr. Cecil Fleming of Ribstone, Alta., was a visitor during the past week. Cecil was born in Beiseker, and this was the first time he has been back since 1934. Cecil buys grain for the Pool at Ribstone.

Mr. and Mrs. Val Schmaltz and family are holidaying in Montana.

Mr. Tom Miller and his mother, Mrs. Joseph Miller were visiting the Ternes families and other

I think a word of thanks is in order here to Mr. W. Tidy, who so faithfully wrote articles for this paper, while he was the publicity chairman. These articles took a lot of time and thought, possibly a whole lot more than any of us realized. His articles were not only published in the Beiseker Times, but in all papers of Community Publications where there were Lions Clubs.

Once more we thank Mr. Tidy and wish success to his successor, Mr. Ken Wright, who we all know will also fill this position very efficiently.

The local Lions Club have moved their quarters to the Beiseker Memorial hall. Miss Dora Schultz is their caterer for the ensuing year.

ROCKYFORD BRIEFS

Mr. and Mrs. A. Easton with Donna and Bobby left Saturday on a trip to the coast.

Mr. and Mrs. Macbeth and Jimmy are spending part of their holidays visiting in Edmonton.

The town was nearly deserted during the July 1 week-end when some spent the day at the Strathcona sports, others at the Standard sports, and the majority spent the week-end at Pine Lake.

We wish to congratulate Mr. and Mrs. Harold Roppel on the arrival of a baby daughter, Charlotte Irene.

Both Rollie Dopking and Johnny Leas are sporting new (for them) cars.

Mr. and Mrs. Emmet Feser, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Carl L. Schmaltz of Beiseker left recently for a trip to Trail, B.C., where they will spend a few days visiting relations. We hear that Emmet also took along his fishing rods.

On Sunday, July 10, Beiseker lost to Keoma in the same league by a score of 8-7 at Keoma.

On Irricana Sports Day, July 4, Beiseker had tough luck too, and lost to Irricana by a score of 15-3. Norman Schmaltz hurt his ankle in this game, and has been laid up ever since.

BEISEKER COUPLE MARK GOLDEN WEDDING EVENT

BEISEKER.—A large number of friends and relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Zeno Reding of Beiseker gathered at their home June 25 to celebrate their golden wedding anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Reding were married in St. Paul, Minn., July 27, 1900, and lived in St. Paul for 10 years before coming to Canada, settling in Beiseker where they have lived ever since. They are both active, and still carry on with their usual farm duties.

Mr. and Mrs. Reding had two sons, Herman, who is married and lives on the home place; and Walter who was married and lived at St. Paul until his death two years ago. There are nine grandchildren and one great-grandchild. Another grandchild, Walter's son, was accidentally killed in December, 1949.

The women prepared a banquet for this occasion, and the rooms were decorated with peonies and other flowers. The table was centred with a wedding cake. At the close of the banquet J. H. Schmaltz, on behalf of the guests, presented the honored guests with a mantel clock.

Mr. J. H. Schmaltz was master of ceremonies for a program consisting of some wedding music on recordings, during which time he recalled their wedding day and some of their life history. Matt Ravinsky played some selections on his accordion.

Hotels and Liquor

At the Alberta Hotel Association's recent convention in Edmonton, delegates from all over the province wrote into their convention reports a decision to enforce the Alberta Liquor Act to its fullest.

The big majority of hotel men have always done their utmost to operate clean establishments that are run in full accordance with the law. However, there was one clause that for a long time was overlooked.

It has now been decided that the law limiting the sale of beer to two glasses at a time per customer shall be stringently enforced.

This is a wise step that will do much to counter the bad publicity which has prevailed recently in connection with Alberta's liquor situation. It should also make it easier for the hotel proprietor to handle the inevitable cases of drunkenness that arise in beer parlors.

It is a regrettable fact that there are always some who abuse a privilege. The right to consume beer and liquor is definitely a privilege, one which we would not like to see denied to the people in this province.

Hotel men are often placed in difficult positions by the actions of a minority which attracts wide attention. We feel that such actions do deserve wide attention, because drunkenness has done much damage to the welfare of so many individuals.

But it should be made clear that it is only a minority that acts in this manner, and others should not be penalized because of this.

Insurance for Farmers

This business of farming is one of the most important industries in the country, but also one which entails perhaps the biggest gamble. At the start of every season, no farmer knows the outcome of his crop, whether he will suffer from drought or be hailed out, or how the markets will be.

And so it is that we recommend to all farmers the Alberta Hail Insurance Board, a co-operative organization with headquarters in Calgary.

The Hail Insurance Board stands ready to give every farmer in the province the minimum protection that he requires for his well-being and security. With the government taking a strong hand in the direction of its policy, it is an outstanding example of co-operative effort for the good of all.

From its formation in 1938 until today, the board has paid out varying amounts to farmers, ranging from the $200,000 paid in 1942, to $1,767,000 paid last year.

July and August are the hail-menacing months, and this year the board will receive about 6,000 applications for insurance from farmers.

The organization writes about 75 per cent of the hail coverage in the province, and while hail insurance is never a complete protection, it is a valuable safeguard that every grain grower should take.

The Alberta Hail Insurance Board is one of the most important features of the agricultural industry of this province.

Problem of Youth

Hard work, a reasonable application of good common sense, and the ability to "settle down" in a chosen career early in life, are the requisites for success. Many young men in the 16 to 22 age bracket prefer $50.00 per week at common labor NOW to the choice of learning a trade, starting in at $25.00 per week and working steadily for six years until he has a training for life.

Some men settle down at 16 in their chosen work. Many bank managers and directors today are men who, when they were boys, had enough good sense to get down to business early in life. Some men dissipate their youth until they are thirty. Some are forty, some fifty before they settle down to make a straight line of their career.

There are some, of course, who wait until they are too old to work or too infirm, get drunk every Saturday night and don't settle down at all, and end up penniless and useless to themselves, their family and society.

What Does Life Hold For a Man?

By T. W. PUE

Every now and then I run across information that I think might be interesting and pass it on to our readers. Here's an item that should be of particular interest to our male readers.

Fifty is the dangerous age for men, says an eminent British psychologist, who points out that some time between 45 and 50, a man realizes that what he is, he is, and there is no turning back.

All of his life, says the doctor, the man may have been dissatisfied with his job and his status in the world, looking upon both as temporary conditions to be altered when his "dreams" come true. Around fifty, however, the hoped-for "lucky break" becomes an uncertainty and the individual must give up the relief that he has found in his "dreams."

There are only two ways out of the difficulty for men at this age, according to the doctor. One is the way of regression, to close one's eyes to the facts of life and go back to an earlier and probably lower level. Changing occupations and swapping wives, in the belief that success in a big way is just ahead, is one expression of this way. Another is to live through one's children, identifying the youngsters with himself and attempting to direct their lives along the line that the father would have liked to have led himself.

The only sensible way out, says the doctor, however, is to frankly recognize one's age and recognize that, so far the man himself is concerned, much personal advancement is through. Then, forgetting himself, to live for his children, or others, as they are, rather than as he would like them to be, and thus take up some worthy cause in the world.

There is sense in the observations of the British doctor but, just the same, there is a chance that he has not stated the entire possibilities that exist for a man at this dangerous age. Admitting that a man may labor willingly, for years, under the impression that his work and his status are temporary and that between 45 and 50, he comes to the conclusion that his "dream" is fading, there is yet a chance for a man to pull himself together and go ahead.

The temperament that allows a man to drift with events and affairs so long as he expects a "break," will often change with the realization that harder work and more intensive application can alone produce results. Consequently, when a man comes to this understanding of himself, he is apt to re-check his course, halt his drifting and steer more directly for the goal he has had in mind.

Anyway, whether 45 or 50, or 60, life holds much for every man. No one can calculate what can be accomplished in a few years and the records of the past contain many examples of men and women who have made "much personal advancement" after passing the age limit set by the eminent psychologist.

Scriptural Meditations

By AINSLEY BLAIR

Never should the Bible be studied without prayer. Before opening its pages we should ask for the enlightenment of the Holy Spirit, and it will be given. When Nathanael came to Jesus, the Saviour exclaimed, "Behold an Israelite indeed, in whom is no guile." Nathanael said, "Whence knowest thou me?" Jesus answered, "Before that Philip called thee, when thou wast under the fig tree, I saw thee." (John 1: 47, 48). And Jesus will see us also in the secret places of prayer, if we will seek Him for light that we may know what is truth. Angels from the world of light will be with those who in humility of heart seek for divine guidance.

"Let No Man Put Asunder!"

A TALE OF THE NORTHWEST

By EUSTACE REDDISH

The previous instalment told of Bob Campbell and two companions arriving in Entwistle in November 1909 on a construction train of the GTP. They forded the freezing Pembina on foot and with only one packet of crackers and three tins of sardines they headed north on the way to their homesteads.

But once across the Pembina they took the wrong trail and had to stay out in the bush all night with two good fires to keep them warm. Three days later they got to Hart's at Roydale where they spent the night and had their first real meal since leaving Entwistle.

The next morning Bob and his companions separated, they going west and he north.

The next people he saw were at Jim Maloney's where they showed him the trail to Peavine and his homestead which was about seven miles due north. However there were so many cattle trails that he lost the trail he was following and at dusk he found himself at a shack five miles west of his destination.

The people there gave him supper and put him on a good trail which led direct to Henderson's who at that time had a store and the Peavine post office and which place he had no difficulty in finding.

That winter of 1909 he lived with Dunc Tolmie. Dunc was the brother of his Edmonton friend who had persuaded him to come to Peavine, and his homestead was right next to Bob's.

Next spring Bob and Dunc put up a shack, but he headed back to Edmonton for another summer's work, returning to winter in his own shack.

Bob continued to work in Edmonton throughout each building season and then to pass the winter on his homestead until after the outbreak of World War I which caused a collapse of the building boom. He then decided to turn farmer and came out to live permanently on his homestead.

Most of the men of military age in this district enlisted in the Canadian Expeditionary Force and Bob was no exception enlisting in the 194th Battalion in Edmonton in the spring of 1916.

Overseas Bob, with other local members of the 194th, was transferred to the 6th Bn. Canadian Railway Troops with whom he saw considerable service in France.

After the war Bob returned to the farm in 1919, was married that fall, and also took a soldier grant a quarter section which had lots of good timber on it. He purchased a sawmill and cut lumber every winter for a number of years.

This timbered soldier grant adjoined the North West Lumber Co.'s timber berth and when they cut their logs in that area about 1929 or 1930 they cut and hauled almost all of Bob's timber that was still standing.

Then it was discovered that due to some mistake in the land office both Bob and the NW Lbr. Co. were the legal owners of the timber but as the North West had cut and hauled it Bob was out of luck.

All he got was the land the timber had grown on and the stumps, though the government did graciously consent to refund the taxes he had paid on this land prior to the removal of the timber.

Mrs. Campbell died in 1938 and Bob continued to farm his old homestead. He has now retired but continues to reside on the farm that has been home to him for over four decades.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON:

New Series Portrays Great Bible Characters

With this lesson, we begin a new quarter's series of lessons on "Great Men and Women of the Bible."

We meet such people as Jacob, Moses, Ruth, Samuel, David, Elijah and Ezra; John the Baptist, Mary the Mother of Jesus, Peter, John, Mark, James, the brother of Jesus and Paul the great missionary. These people met and overcame some of the same obstacles which we meet in our own home towns, are the same sort of people as those we meet in our own home towns, except that they had a divine light and strength within their hearts, which must come into our hearts if we are to be worthy followers of Jesus Christ.

The story of Jacob is perhaps too familiar to Bible students to even need a review. As we now know, Jacob started out as a cheat. He cheated his brother, his father and his father-in-law. He discovered, however, that he got nothing but trouble for his deceit and that his greatest enemy was himself. Before we criticize Jacob too severely, we should look back into our own lives and see how much we were and are like him. It will be interesting to discover how, with all his sons and faults, he became great.

Jacob spent most of his life trying to get away from himself or from someone he had wronged. He never got away from either. It was only after his full surrender of himself to God that he received the blessing and contentment which only God can provide.

In one of his great sermons Dwight L. Moody, in talking about Bible characters, said: "If they were all like Joseph and Joshua and Daniel, and Jeremiah, and John the Baptist, and a few of those characters who never tripped and fell, that never deviated a hair's breadth, I think it would discourage a good many of us. But when we come to a character like Jacob, and we find that God had grace enough to save him, I think that there is hope for almost any of us; for, by nature, he was as bad a character as you can find. By nature, he was very treacherous and deceitful.

"Jacob means a planner and a deceiver. He started wrong. He started with a lie in his mouth. I do not know that the ladies will like to hear me say it, but I think his mother was as much to blame as he was; she told him to tell a lie to his father. The object of taking up such a character as this is not to look at the failings of Jacob and forget our own. Though he was a grandson of Abraham, he is twin brother to most of us."

Jacob discovered the "high cost of low living." He lied and cheated his way through half his life, until he came to the place where he realized that not only did the cheating and the lying not "pay off," but that there was a better life open to him if he had the courage to break his evil habits and live as God wanted him to live. Jacob was not able to win the struggle all by himself—he needed God to help him break the chains of habit. He "struggled" with God, and with the angels of God and, when he realized at last that he could never win without God on his side, he really began to live.

Do you know of anyone who has "cheated his way to happiness?" There are some who have apparently "cheated" their way to material success but material success alone has never brought real happiness to anyone. The words of the poem by Edgar A. Guest come to mind in this connection, "I must live with myself, and so, I must be fit for myself to know."

Before closing we must point out that, even in the beginning, Jacob was not all bad. There is some good in the worst of us and some bad in the best of us. Jacob gave fourteen years of his life to win the girl he loved; he left his home in his old age to make the long journey to Egypt just to see his son Joseph once more before he died. Jacob is the perfect example of how God can make a good man out of a poor boy. The Master of Men went to work on Jacob at Bethel and Peinel, smoothing out the rough spots in his character and molding him into one of mankind's noblest men.

Just as in Alberta, the Lions roar when they get together down east. Canada's Northern Resources Envy of the Entire World

Main force assuring the future development of Canada is the great resources of the Northland, president J. L. Carson of the Bank of Toronto said in Edmonton last week.

Mr. Carson was in Edmonton for the formal opening of the new main branch building of the Bank of Toronto at Jasper avenue and 100A street.

"The world's greatest reserves of undeveloped natural resources lie in Canada's northland. They are the envy of the entire world," the bank president said.

Mr. Carson said he thinks Canada should have a sound, long-term immigration policy.

"How long will 14,000,000 people be permitted to pre-empt half a continent?" he asked.

As to population, he felt the people of Canada should insist on an increased flow of immigration.

"This is absolutely necessary for our future development and a continuation of our high standard of living," Mr. Carson said.

He said the position of the Canadian consumer is generally very good.

He advised business leaders to "watch credits and the accumulation of excess inventories."

U.S. PIPELINE WOULD TAP ALBERTA NATURAL GAS FIELDS

A group of Texans planning to pipe natural gas into the Pacific northwest will seek to supplement the Texas product with gas from Canadian fields.

The firm headed by Robert Herring of Houston, Texas, applied to the federal power commission Thursday for a permit to build a $200,000,000 pipeline from the Gulf Coast to British Columbia.

Herring stated in a telephone interview that a preliminary survey of the proposed 2,400-mile pipeline route was made in the last six weeks.

"We are going to give the Alberta government an opportunity to participate in our network of gas transmission lines to the extent their reserves will allow," Herring is quoted as saying. "The Canadians have only about five trillion cubic feet of proven reserves. Proven reserves in Texas total 90 trillion cubic feet."

Herring said his company is planning to present the program of the firm—the Pacific Northwest Pipeline Corp.—to the Alberta government.

VANCOUVER.—W. C. Mainwaring, vice-president of the British Columbia Electric Company, Friday confirmed that the Fish Engineering Corp. of Houston, Texas, has discussed with him a proposed $200,000,000 natural gas pipeline.

"Just what the discussions were, I am not at liberty to say," he said. The 2,400-mile line would carry gas from Houston to the Pacific northwest, including Vancouver.

Other companies plan to tap the rich Alberta fields and build a line to the coast.

"Eventually we're going to get gas, no matter who builds a pipeline," said Mr. Mainwaring.

Drives Two Cars Across Country

DAYS LAND.—E. Tobert, proprietor of the Daysland Farm. Equipment here, recently drove 2483 miles from Hamilton in two cars.

The unusual feature of the trip was that he towed one new Studebaker behind the other during his cross-country trip.

The cars were hitched together bumper to bumper.

He made the trip via London, Duluth, Sweetgrass, Calgary and on to Daysland. He even ran into a snowstorm on the way, but made the trip in five days.

Utilities Extends Power Line

Canadian Utilities Limited has just announced an addition to its construction program of this year in the construction of a transmission line from Hanna to Castor, a distance of 44 miles. This project will cost about $140,000.

The line will be 34,500 volts, more than ample to meet immediate and near future requirements. At some time in the future, to meet a necessity that will develop, this will be changed over to 60,000 volts.

When this is completed, a loop will be formed giving an added assurance of uninterrupted service to a large area served by the company.

From an improved service standpoint, this new link is of most importance to the two branch lines running from Castor to Rosalind and from Castor to Veteran. Equally favorably affected will be Heisler, Forestburg, Galahad, Alliance and Coronation, the intervening points on these branch circuits.

Most of the material necessary for the work has already been ordered, and it is anticipated construction will commence in the near future.

Because it was losing $376,200 daily on railroad operations, the government of Argentina has contemplated tearing up 40 per cent of the trackage and replacing it with highways.

Donkey Baseball Is Seen at Crossfield

By EVELYN LILLEY

CROSSFIELD.—By way of a complete change in baseball, Crossfield spent a side-splitting evening recently, when a donkey baseball promoter arrived with his mounts from the U.S.A.

The game was between Airdrie and Crossfield. The bases were shortened, the pitcher stayed put and the batter struck and quickly mounted a donkey with hopes for at least first base.

But those stubborn old mules dismounted their riders with ease and efficiency and made it plenty hard for remounting. Players coaxed and pleaded, but rewards came slowly.

Airdrie made a few home runs—crawls were more like it. Sammy, the mule, could only be coaxed to go a few feet, when he decided to lie down regularly for his nap, stretching his neck and head on the earth in spite of protests that the third base must be made.

Two donkeys got within two feet of home plate and all the rider's prayers couldn't induce them another step. They were eventually caught out. Airdrie won the game and in the donkey derby which followed, Tommy Stamp rode a winner.

Airdrie won the donkey potato race which was executed with spears.

Letter to Louisa

Two Boy Friends Are Problem of Alberta Girl

Dear Louisa—I have a boy friend that I have been going with since Easter. He is 20 years old, and does not own any property so far, as he is on the poor side.

I also have another boy friend, who is 25, and wants me to marry him. He has two farms and a car also. My parents do not seem to approve of me going out with the youngest one.

I am 18 years old. Do you think that my parents are wrong, and which one do you think is better, the one 20 or the one 25. I will take your advice.

R. B. S.

Answer—From the few facts you have given me it is rather hard to give you complete advice.

Just because the younger boy does not yet have any property does not in itself mean too much, unless reasons other than his age can account for this. And in your parents liking the older boy better, they are probably motivated by the desire to see you have security in your married life, and feel that he is better able to give you this.

Yet even worldly security will not do you any good if you marry the wrong man, only to discover that it is the other you love.

My advice to you is that you consider your future on this basis, and only let other matters enter in to it if you love both of them, if such a thing is possible.

LOUISA.

Young Man's Problem

Dear Louisa—I've been going steady with a girl for a year and we loved each other very much. We were supposed to get married early this spring, and were supposed to have a big wedding, but on account of the muddy roads we had to put it off, and here's where my problem comes in.

When the roads did dry up, she made an excuse that there was the field work and since then she kept on making excuses whenever I brought up the subject.

So now I don't know what to do, as I am engaged to her, yet she won't give me the ring back. What would you do if you were in my boots?

G. W., Redwater.

Answer—It's not every often that I have men write to me, but I will try and give you an honest answer.

From what you say, it would seem that this girl has changed her mind about wanting to marry you, yet doesn't want to come right out and tell you for fear of hurting you.

And this is where you come in. Should this be the case, it would be wisest for both of you not to carry on your engagement any longer, because if she married you without loving you, your marriage would not be a happy one.

On the other hand, perhaps this is not the reason at all. Perhaps the excuses she has given you are quite valid, and in this case you will just have to wait for a satisfactory time for your wedding.

My advice is that you talk the whole subject out with her, not neglecting to mention that you love her, and that you want to know definitely when you two will be married. Let me know how things turn out.

LOUISA.

Grasshopper Fight Underway On Alberta Farm Lands

Under semi-arid prairie conditions, adapted cultivated grasses when grown alone, have a tendency to fall off in pasture carrying capacity and in hay yield after a few years. Experiments have shown conclusively that the addition of legume to these grasses helps to maintain the hay yield and pasture carrying capacity over a longer period. Alfalfa is the legume most generally used in grass mixtures on the prairies, although sweet clover may be used under certain conditions.

Alfalfa will persist under grazing provided it is not grazed too closely. It also tends to give a fair amount of herbage during period of drought because of its deep rooting system.

From the results of pasture experiments it has been found that a grass alfalfa mixture provides for a longer period as the hot weather of summer approaches. Furthermore, in mixing with brome grass, it helps in overcoming the so-called "sod bound" condition. In a mixture with grass, the hazard of bloating from pasturing alfalfa alone is greatly lessened.

While experiments have shown that four to five pounds of alfalfa per acre would be ideal in a mixture, two pounds are recommended because of the relatively high price of the seed and even one pound per acre would be beneficial.

The mixture that is a standard at Scatt, says A. G. Kusch, is the following: brome, four pounds; crested wheat grass, three pounds; and alfalfa, two pounds per acre. A heavier rate than three pounds of crested wheat grass per acre results in this grass dominating in about three years. This mixture gives a stand which is not too heavy for dry conditions. Heavier stands result in shorter growth, especially in dry seasons, thus giving less hay and pasture.

On land that is slightly rolling, the above mixture is very suitable, for crested wheat grass will dominate on the droughty hills while alfalfa and brome will do well in the depressions where moisture conditions are a little better.

The crested wheat grass provides pasture very early in the spring and in the late fall if moisture conditions are favorable, while during the heat of mid-summer, the brome and alfalfa will provide most of the pasture.

$681 Damages Set Following Assault

Albert Perrott, Morinville farmer, was assessed $681 damages by Mr. Justice Shepherd in supreme court recently for an unprovoked assault on Paul Pylychuk, Beverly welder, in a downtown Edmonton hotel.

Stanley D. Warner, testified that Perrott's salutation to Pylychuk was to walk up to him, curse him, and say, "You kicked me about when I was a kid. Try it now."

Evidence was that Perrott then had struck the plaintiff two or three times, knocking out two front upper teeth and damaging others.

On the witness stand in the civil action, Pylychuk, said that many years ago at Calahoo there had been trouble between the two families, but the dispute was between himself and Perrott's father.

Time to Treat Crops With 2,4-D

The essence of success in the control of weeds in growing crops by 2,4-D rests not only in employing the right chemicals at the right concentrations but also in spraying or dusting at the right stage of both weed and crop growth.

Treat Early. It cannot be stressed too strongly that the best results with 2,4-D are obtained when annual weeds such as Wild Mustard and Stinkweed are treated in the seedling stage. Once annual weeds have grown large their resistance to 2,4-D increases rapidly. In consequence, the later the spraying or dusting is left the greater will be the amount of 2,4-D required to obtain a first-class kill; and the longer will the weeds be given a chance to compete with the crop. Treat early.

Stage of Crops. Although it is important to treat the weeds as soon as the seedling stage is reached it is equally important to bear in mind the stage of crop growth. Too early or too late treatment with 2,4-D is likely to lead to crop injury. In the case of cereal crops (wheat, oats, and barley) it is essential to wait until the grain plants are in the 3-leaf stage, or about 6 inches high, before they are treated. 2,4-D should not be applied to cereal crops after the plants have reached the early shot-blade stage. On no account should cereal crops be treated when the plants are in the flowering or early-heading stages of growth. With flax, treatment with 2,4-D should be made at the earliest opportunity after the flax plants have formed 4 or 5 leaves, since the weeds then will be more readily killed. Flax crops should not be sprayed or dusted with 2,4-D once the plants have started to bud. Late treatment of flax is likely to cause serious crop injury.

Seek Advice. More detailed information on the proper time to apply 2,4-D can be obtained from your local Line Elevator Agent. Ask him for a copy of our "2,4-D Time Treatment Chart." Remember early treatment with 2,4-D is essential for effective, economical weed control.

CATTLE EXPORTS TO U.S. KEEP BEEF PRICES HIGH

Sharply increased cattle exports to the United States have stripped some areas in Alberta of livestock and have been responsible for the high level of Canadian meat prices, Hugh W. Allen, president of the Alberta Livestock Co-operative, Ltd., said.

He was giving the directors' report to the annual meeting.

Mr. Allen said it is expected meat prices will remain "tied" to U.S. prices as long as substantial exports are possible to the U.S. market.

Mr. Allen reported that the ALC had its greatest year in 1949 in the 10-year history, handling more than $32,000,000 worth of business. Hog marketings had declined by half since the banner year of 1944, but cattle volume had doubled.

He said the best solution for the unsatisfactory hog situation is opening up of the U.S. market to hogs the same as for cattle.

He said the government had hinted that this might be done and, considering the superior quality of Canadian hogs, they would probably command a premium price in the U.S.

He said western producers would be able to ship to the western U.S. coast cheaper than U.S. producers in the heaviest producing areas.

Parliament Decides Policy On Vital Alberta Issues

By J. W. WELBOURN, M.P.

Several matters of vital concern to Alberta and Western Canada have recently been decided in the House of Commons.

After six months discussion, two new companies have been incorporated to export natural gas from the Province of Alberta.

The members of the official Opposition, together with the members of the CCF Party, made a very strong attempt to have these two private bills talked out. The filibuster lasted from the time the bills were introduced early last session until May 15 of this year.

The granting of the charter to these two companies makes three companies holding Dominion Government charters. The three companies now incorporated are Alberta Natural Gas Company, the Prairie Transmission Lines Limited, and the West Coast Transmission Company. The West Coast Transmission Company received its charter over a year ago during the final session of the previous parliament.

If the Opposition groups had been successful in talking out the bills incorporating the other two companies, it would have left the West Coast Transmission Company with an absolute monopoly as to route followed and the price charged to the ultimate consumer.

As it now stands, with three companies authorized to construct pipe lines, the Board of Transport Commissioners and the Alberta Gas Conservation Board are in a position to bargain with these companies with a view to getting the most advantageous price for the gas and to be sure that the line follows an all Canadian route.

The granting of a Dominion Government charter does not give any one of these companies the right to export gas. Before doing so, they must apply to the Board of Transport Commissioners for permission to construct the line. They must apply to the Alberta Natural Gas Conservation Board for permission to export gas from Alberta. Furthermore, they must be able to furnish assurance that they are adequately financed, a project of this kind will cost from one hundred to two hundred million dollars.

In view of these facts, it is very hard to understand why members of the Conservative Party, together with members of the CCF Party, conducted a six months filibuster to prevent the granting of two additional charters.

In my opinion, an all Canadian route is desirable. If an all Canadian route through the mountains is feasible, the Yellowhead Pass affords the easiest, cheapest and most direct route from Alberta to Vancouver. When I say the most direct route, I am referring to the fact that the Edmonton gas field is in the approximate centre of the now known gas producing areas in the Province of Alberta.

There are the Turner Valley and Pincher Creek fields in the southern part of the province and the proven area around Peace River and Grande Prairie, in the northern part of the province, together with the recently discovered field in the Edmonton area. This leaves Edmonton as the approximate centre and the logical spot for establishing a collecting system for exportable gas in Alberta.

THE RATS ARE COMING:

Provincial Expert Says Rodents Due Here Soon

Rats will be established in eastern Alberta by the fall. The warning came from J. H. Brown, provincial entomologist who spearheads the campaign to keep Alberta the only rat-free province in Canada.

Department of health field crews working north from Medicine Hat along the Alberta-Saskatchewan border found evidence recently that the main body of rats is established within two miles of the border.

Migrated Steadily

The main body has migrated steadily across Saskatchewan towards Alberta during the past few years. Last year the rat infestation was 12 miles from the border.

The rats, which move to the fields in spring and summer, will move into farm buildings by fall, migrating into the Alberta areas adjacent to the border, Mr. Brown said.

The provincial entomologist strongly advocated a plan for educational work among residents of the districts which may be infested.

be instructed in the use of poison bait and methods of trapping rats," Mr. Brown said.

Rat infestations can be expected by fall in the towns of Empress, Alask, Sibbald, Compeer and Loversburg and in the rural areas surrounding these centres, Mr. Brown said.

Junior Farmer with a future

He's ambitious, that boy. Does chores for his father. Hires out to neighbouring farmers. Keeps some livestock of his own. And he saves his money.

Like many another farmer's son he has plans and is doing something about them now. He is wise enough to know that the habit of saving something out of every dollar he earns can be the very foundation of his future success. It is never too early to start a savings account.

Master Farmer Receives Plaque

Winner of a Master Farm Family award last year, J. G. Dusseault, of Vimy, was presented with a gate plaque during the week-end by J. M. Fontaine, district agriculturist, on behalf of the Alberta department of agriculture.

Mr. Fontaine made the presentation after 50 farmers from the northwest district of Legal, Vimy and Alomer inspected the Dusseault farm. The farmers had been attending a forage crop field day at the farm of Leon St. Martin, of Legal. At the field day, Mr. Fontaine gave a talk on the value of forage crops and their assistance in soil conservation and livestock feeding.

Other farms visited by the group were those of Alphonse Bilodeau, of Vimy, and R. Boccock, of Volmer. The farmers saw Mr. Boccock's modern machinery for harvesting forage crops, and third year stands of alfalfa at the Bilodeau farm.
